Mississippi is the 20th state admitted to the Union. Nicknamed both “The Magnolia State” and “The Hospitality State,” Mississippi took its name from the Mississippi River which originates from the Indian word misi-ziibi, meaning “Great River” or “Father of Waters.” David Holmes was chosen as the first governor of the State.

With a population of almost 3 million and a land mass of 48,434 square miles, Mississippi is the 32nd most extensive and the 31st most populous of the 50 states. The state’s density is 62.5 persons per square mile. Mississippi is heavily forested, with more than half of the state’s area covered by wild trees, including pine, cottonwood, elm, hickory, oak, pecan, sweetgum, and tupelo.

The State of Mississippi is entirely composed of lowlands. Situated at 806 feet above sea level, the highest point is Woodall Mountain in the northeastern corner of the state at the foothills of the Cumberland Mountains. The lowest point is sea level at the Gulf Coast. The mean elevation in the state is 300 feet above sea level.

For most of the year, the climate is mild, but becomes semi–tropical on the Gulf Coast. Summers are long, making it possible to grow crops from March through October. The average temperature in January is 48 degrees. The average temperature in July is 81 degrees, but more common daytime temperatures range in the 90s. The average rainfall is 52 inches and fall is the driest season.

The State Capital is Jackson.
The interior dome of the Mississippi State Capitol in Jackson contains 750 lights which illuminate a blind-folded lady representing “Blind Justice” and four scenes: two Indians, a Spanish explorer, and a Confederate general.

Native Dominion
Upon the first arrival of Europeans, the region which is now Mississippi was inhabited by three powerful Indian tribes: the Choctaws, Chickasaws, and the Natchez.

1540-1541 Hernando DeSoto, a Spanish Explorer, becomes the first known European to enter Mississippi. In the spring of 1541, he reaches the Mississippi River a few miles south of Memphis.

1673 Jacques Marquette and Louis Jollier begin exploring the Mississippi River on May 17. They reach Mississippi in July and explore as far south as the mouth of the Arkansas River near present-day Rosedale before turning back.

1682 Robert Cavalier de La Salle navigates the Mississippi River to its mouth and claims all lands drained by the river for France.

(French Dominion 1699-1763) Pierre Le Moyne, Sieur D’Iberville, and his brother, Jean Baptiste, Sieur De Bienville, found the first European settlement at Fort Maurepas on the present site of Ocean Springs.
Fort Rosalie is built on the site of present-day Natchez.

1729
French settlers at Fort Rosalie are massacred by Natchez Indians in an effort to drive Europeans from Mississippi, and hundreds of slaves are set free.

1732
The French, with help from the Choctaws, retaliate for the massacre at Fort Rosalie. The Natchez Indians are destroyed and cease to exist as a separate tribe.

1736
Bienville leads French troops in an attack on the Chickasaw Indians near present-day Lee County. He is defeated at the Battle of Ackia.

1763
After the French and Indian War, Mississippi, along with all French territory east of the Mississippi River, passes into English control.

1779
Bernardo Galvez, governor of Spanish Louisiana captures Natchez.
Mississippi has a long, rich cultural heritage, touching the lives of people in every corner of the globe. Our ideas and the expressions of our creativity have both lasting value and economic power. Our artists, architects, writers, filmmakers, and other creative professionals represent a robust economic force, whose combined economic output produces more than $2 billion in annual revenue, fueling more than 40,000 jobs across the State.

Contemporary music is rooted in Mississippi. The blues grew out of the Delta and other genres of popular music have been strongly influenced by Mississippians - gospel, country, R&B, rock, and jazz. Treks along the ever-growing Mississippi Blues Trail draw visitors from around the world to our State.

A remarkable number of writers have emerged from Mississippi - William Faulkner, Eudora Welty, Tennessee Williams, Margaret Walker Alexander, Richard Wright, Willie Morris, John Grisham, and Kathryn Stockett, just to name a few. Richard Ford is the state’s most recent Pulitzer Prize recipient, honored in 1996 for his novel Independence Day.

Roots of Mississippi traditions can be traced through annual events that celebrate various influences on our culture – events such as the Choctaw Indian Festival, the Mississippi State Fair, the Blessing of the Fleet, the Neshoba County Fair, and the Delta Blues Festival.

1781-1783
The Treaty of Paris, between the U.S. and Britain, transfers West Florida and the southern half of Mississippi to Spain. America gains Mississippi territory north of the 32 degree 28 minute parallel.

1797
America gains control of Natchez as Spain yields control of all land in Mississippi north of the 31st parallel. U.S. surveyor Andrew Ellicott was instrumental in the negotiation of this treaty.

1798
Mississippi is organized as an American territory. The first territorial governor is Winthrop Sargent.

1801
Mississippi advances to the second stage of territorial government.

1801-1802
Mississippi moves its territorial capital from Natchez to Washington, a small town near the Natchez Trace. A treaty with the Indians allows the Natchez Trace to be developed as a mail route and major road.

1803
The Louisiana Purchase opens the Mississippi River for commerce.

Travel and tourism are big business in Mississippi, generating nearly $6 billion in revenue and attracting 20.8 million visitors to our unique places, events, cultural attractions, outdoor recreation, casinos, hotels, and restaurants. The visibility of our State’s attractions is at an all-time high, and tourism’s impact on the State economy continues to increase.

Our festivals, events, and cultural attractions are renowned. For more than 120 years, the Neshoba County Fair, dubbed Mississippi’s Giant House Party, has been a long-standing annual tradition of colorful cabins, camaraderie, and political stump speeches. The Canton Flea Market is one of the largest and most popular outdoor arts and crafts markets in the South. Mal’s St. Paddy’s Day Parade in Jackson is the second-largest of its kind in the U.S. Another tradition, the Delta Blues and Heritage Festival, has attracted visitors from every continent since 1978.

Annual pilgrimages such as those in Natchez, Columbus, and Holly Springs showcase historic homes, including many built during the antebellum and Victorian eras. The Crystal Springs Tomato Festival, Corinth’s Slugburger Festival, Forest’s Wing Dang Doodle Festival, and the Watermelon Festival in Mize all delight visitors with the sights, sounds, and flavors of our State. All told, several hundred unique events are held in Mississippi each year.

Music lovers flock to the Birthplace of America’s Music to visit Elvis Presley’s Tupelo birthplace, the Jimmie Rodgers Museum in Meridian as well as the B.B. King Museum and Delta Interpretive Center, the Delta Blues Museum, and other Blues landmarks along Mississippi’s storied Highway 61.

ECONOMIC INNOVATION

Mississippi’s tradition of conservative fiscal management, pro-business policies, and a balanced budget mandated by the State constitution have fueled small-business development and creative entrepreneurship. Our state’s attractive business climate, abundant natural resources, and enviable quality of life have also captured the attention of many of the world’s leading corporations.

When you consider Mississippi’s near-ideal geographic position in the Americas, it is no wonder our State has become a magnet for transportation, distribution, and logistics businesses. We are surrounded by 800 miles of navigable waterways—the Mississippi River, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. Rail systems offer 2,459 miles of track, and six interstate highways providing easy access to markets east and west, north and south.

We are not just shipping products; we are also producing them. In 2016, we exported $10.8 billion in shipments, with Canada, Mexico, Panama, China, and Guatemala as our top trading partners. Mississippi’s resurging manufacturing sector deserves much of the credit for the State’s economic growth. The State’s key advantages in speed of permitting and competitive utility rates makes it a prime target for manufacturing. A highly-ranked transportation network helps support delivery of goods in an efficient manner.

1982
Governor William F. Winter calls a special legislative session resulting in adoption of the historic Education Reform Act.
The first International Ballet Competition is held.

1983

The Mississippi Constitution separates the total powers of state government into three distinct departments: executive, legislative, and judicial.

The state executive branch, headed by the Governor, has the duty and responsibility of implementing governmental programs and policies established by law.

The legislative branch consists of 52 Senators and 122 Representatives. The 1890 Mississippi Constitution places sole law-making authority in the bi-cameral Legislature, which also has the power of the purse, a constitutional provision stipulating no money may be spent from the state’s treasury unless the Legislature passes a law to do so. The Senate exercises advice and consent over appointments made by the Governor.

Mississippi’s State Capitol was built in 1903 at a cost of $1.1 million. The Beaux Arts style building was totally restored from 1979 to 1983 for $19 million. It is 402 feet long and 180 feet to the top of the dome.

Mississippi’s judicial branch of government, headed by the state Supreme Court, has the power of judicial review – ensuring our government operates according to the Mississippi Constitution. The state’s trial court system includes circuit, chancery, county, justice, and municipal courts.

Mississippi is one of only five states which elects its state officials in odd-numbered years. Mississippi holds elections for these offices every four years, always in the year preceding a federal Presidential election.

On a local level, county, and municipal governments are also established according to Mississippi law.
As the 65th Governor of Mississippi, Tate Reeves is a conservative leader focused on the principles of guarding taxpayers’ dollars, improving educational opportunity, and growing new careers so the state’s best and brightest can raise their families at home.

In 2003, Tate was elected as the first Republican and youngest treasurer in the state’s history. His business training in the banking sector made him the state’s foremost advocate for balancing the state budget while minimizing state debt.

He was elected in 2011 and re-elected four years later as lieutenant governor, managing the state Senate. His conservative management helped fill the state’s “rainy day fund” and reduce the debt burden. He fought for transparency in how agencies spend tax dollars and stronger reporting requirements on taxpayer-funded incentive programs.

Tate is a strong supporter of public safety and Mississippian’s Second Amendment Rights. He is proud of the support of Mississippi’s pro-life community as he fights for the rights of the unborn.

The Mississippi Supreme Court is the court of last resort among Mississippi’s state courts. Decisions of the Chancery, Circuit, and County Courts and of the Court of Appeals may be appealed to the Supreme Court. Nine Supreme Court justices are elected in non-partisan elections from three districts for staggered, eight-year terms.

Each justice participates in deciding appeals from the entire state. Decisions are by a majority vote of the court.

The Court of Appeals is an error correction court and hears cases assigned by the Supreme Court when facts are in dispute. If the Supreme Court declines review of their case, the Court of Appeals decision stands.

Answers to the Mississippi Trivia Section:

1. The Mississippi Gulf Coast has the world’s largest man-made beach.

2. Joseph Biedenharn, owner of Biedenharn Candy Company in Vicksburg, installed a bottling machine in his store, and became the first to bottle Coca-Cola.

3. The term “knockout” was first used during the heavyweight fight in 1882.

4. The Davis Planetarium was the first organization to make a commercial movie in space.

5. Windsor, near Port Gibson, was the largest antebellum mansion in Mississippi. In 1890, it burned to the ground (presumably at the hands of a careless smoker). All that remains of the Windsor mansion are its 23 remaining monolithic columns.

6. A Sherman necktie is an iron rail heated over a fire and bent around a tree. This was the method Sherman used to render useless the railway system in the South.

7. Four miles south of Alcorn is the ghost town of Rodney. One of the last remaining landmarks of the former town is the Rodney Presbyterian Church.

8. On April 25, 1866, the ladies of Columbus decorated Confederate and Union graves with flowers. As a direct result, Americans now celebrate what has come to be known as Memorial Day, the annual observance of recognition of our war dead.

9. Friendship Oak measures over 50 feet in height, with a trunk over 17 feet wide.

10. The Mississippi Delta is the birthplace of Blues music.

11. The world’s only cactus plantation was located near Edwards.

12. To escape enslavement by the Biloxi Indian tribe, the Pascagoula Indians joined hands and began to chant a song of death as they walked into the river.

13. In 1870, two riverboats, the Robert E. Lee I and the Natchez VI, raced each other 1,200 miles up the Mississippi River. The winning trophy is on display in Vicksburg.

14. James Dodson Byrd developed the plastic used as a heat shield in the NASA Space Program.

15. The 4-H club was founded in Holmes County in 1907.

16. Emerald Mound, the second largest Indian ceremonial mound in the U.S., is located northeast of Natchez, on the Natchez Trace Parkway.

17. Mississippi has more tree farms than any other state.

18. After the Civil War, John B. Stetson became a famous hat maker, learning, and practicing his trade at Dunn’s Falls (near Meridian).

19. The first Mississippi chapter of the Parent Teacher Association was founded in Crystal Springs in 1909.

20. Ensign Jesse L. Brown was a Hattiesburg native, who was shot down on Dec. 4, 1950, in the Korean War during the Battle of the Chosin Reservoir. Brown crash landed his F4U Corsair fighter aircraft and died from his injuries.

Mississippi’s Coat of Arms was first declared official by the 1894 Legislature but was later reaffirmed by law in 2001. Featured on the crest, the unofficial state motto “Virtute et Armis” is translated from Latin: By Valor and Arms.
